Pacific Pipe Systems brings in global technology at affordable costs to "Deliver Excellence in Indian Composites". People need water as surely as they need oxygen: without it life could not exist. But water also gives life in a far broader sense. Clean water and sanitation are among the most powerful drivers for human development. They extend opportunity, enhance dignity and help create a virtuous cycle of improving health and rising wealth. The rising wealth in the economy will boost income, but child mortality and life expectancy will barely change unless sweeping changes in water and sanitation is introduced. Clean water will be the vehicle for a leap forward in human progress in India and we at Pacific would like to partner and foster such growth by affordable solutions besides reducing green house emissions through lower energy demands in production and to transport water.
